FAQs

Q1: Will writing paper be provided for candidates to make notes?

Yes, writing paper will be provided upon request.

Q2: What if students type all their Source-Based Case Study answers under a single response space, or type in a response space for a different question?

During marking, if it is clear that an answer for a particular question is incorrectly entered in a response space, markers will mark accordingly and award marks for the correct question.

It is good practice to train students to state the question number before they start answering each question.

FAQs

Q3: The eExam system allows candidates to use typographical features (e.g. bold, italic, underline) in their responses. Will the use of typographical features be assessed?

Candidates are NOT required to use typographical features in their responses.
The use of typographical features will NOT be assessed.

Q4: If candidates are to type in big font size and they do not revert to the default size, will they be penalised?

Candidates will NOT be penalised if they submit their responses in big font size.
